Welcome to Abu Dhabi Global Health Week

Abu Dhabi Global Health Week, hosted by the Department of Health - Abu Dhabi, brings together healthcare professionals, policymakers, industry leaders, and disruptors to address today's most pressing challenges and reimagine the future of care.

As health systems around the world face increasing complexity - from ageing populations to the rise of chronic disease - Abu Dhabi is stepping forward with bold ambition and coordinated action. With a forward-looking vision anchored in preventative care, digital health, and longevity science, the emirate is transforming its ecosystem into a global model of innovation.

ADGHW 2026 is the convening force for this transformation, uniting leaders to align on priorities, explore breakthrough solutions, and unlock opportunities for collaboration, investment, and impact.

Together, attendees will drive progress across the healthcare spectrum - showcasing cutting-edge research, pioneering technologies, and vital insights - all focused on extending life, enhancing well-being, and shaping the future of global health.

Visitors by region

Visitors by job function

It's very important for leaders like myself and others in the healthcare industry to come to events like Abu Dhabi Global Health Week to network and learn. Healthcare is all about continuous improvements and learning about new ideas and new ways of doing things, and ADGHW is the perfect opportunity to do so. I'm very excited to be at Abu Dhabi Global Health Week, redefining health and wellbeing for tomorrow.

Targeted product sectors

The ADGHW exhibition showcases cutting-edge innovations across a wide range of healthcare segments, including:

 Biotechnology	 Digital health and health IT	 Health technology	 Pharmaceuticals
 Healthcare infrastructure/assets	 Laboratory precision medicine	 Medical equipment/devices/services	 Health technology and innovation

At Abu Dhabi Global Health Week 2025, we were reminded of the immense potential of collaboration and innovation to reshape the future of healthcare. Gilead was proud to be an active partner in advancing critical discussions around longevity, well-being, and personalised care. Through the announcement of two strategic MoUs with the Department of Health – Abu Dhabi, we deepened our commitment to address cancer, virology, and other unmet health needs.

Explore cutting-edge conferences

Through a rich, multi-dimensional programme of keynote addresses, panel discussions, interactive sessions and a game changing exhibition, Abu Dhabi Global Health Week delivers unparalleled access to the latest thinking and emerging insights and developments in global healthcare.

The Forum @ ADGHW

Now in its third year, the Forum @ ADGHW is the flagship conference at the heart of the week - where vision meets action.

This exclusive, three-day programme convenes leading minds across healthcare, policy, research, and investment for impactful keynotes, bold panel dialogues, and strategic one-on-one conversations.

Exploring the most urgent challenges and transformative ideas shaping the future of global health, the Forum delivers practical, forward-looking insights that drive real-world change.

With a strong focus on cross-sector collaboration and inclusive dialogue, it's where the global health community comes together to reimagine what's possible.

Delegate pass required

Live Stage

Complementary to the Forum experience is the Live Stage - a dynamic, interactive hub located on the exhibition floor.

Open to all attendees, the Live Stage offers a lively mix of presentations, panel discussions, real-world case studies, fireside chats, and cutting-edge technology showcases.

Designed as an open-access platform for ideas and innovation, it invites participants to explore bold thinking, connect across disciplines, and engage in forward-looking conversations that shape the future of healthcare.

Open access - free to attend

ADGHW unfiltered

ADGHW Unfiltered is a bold, ask-me-anything experience where industry experts face 15–20 minutes of raw Q&A. No scripts. No safe answers. Just the conversations healthcare needs to have.

Driven by pre-event audience polls, each session zeroes in on what people really care about across Pharma, MedTech, AI in Health and Women’s Health.

Staged at the heart of the show floor, on the Live Stage or in the HealthBeats Podcast Lounge, it’s where visitors get to ask anything and sponsors gain a high-impact platform to humanise their brand and amplify reach.

Open access – free to attend

Abu Dhabi Global Health Week 2025 was a significant success, providing a valuable platform for healthcare leaders and experts to come together, discuss the future of health, and build partnerships to tackle challenges in the sector. We look forward to reconnecting at ADGHW 2026.
